360° APPRAISAL

ABOUT THE PSYTECH 360° APPRAISAL

360° appraisals compare an individual's self ratings on a number of behavioural competencies to the ratings provided by other individuals who regularly interact with them at work. These "raters" are grouped by the nature of their relationship with the individual being appraised to be a manager, a peer, a direct report or other key stakeholders such as clients.

The results are based on the questionnaires completed by Sam and the various raters involved in the 360° appraisal. The questionnaires focused on Sam's behaviour in the workplace in relation to the competencies being measured.

The information contained in this report provides insight into Sam's strengths and weaknesses within the competencies as well as any differences that might exist between self perceptions of behaviour and that of others. The information can be used to enhance self-awareness and engage individuals in their personal and professional development.

GUIDE TO USING PSYTECH'S 360° REPORT

This report focuses on providing a comprehensive summary of the information gained from the 360° appraisal.

REPORT SECTIONS

Sam Sample's results are presented in the following sections:

Overall Summary

Shows Sam's self ratings as well as the ratings provided by others raters according to their relationship to Sam.

Category Overviews

Provides further details regarding the competency categories and behavioural competencies being measured within each category. These sections also provide the highest and lowest rated items per competency category.

Perception Gaps

Gives an overall view of the level of agreement between self perceptions and the perceptions of other rater groups.

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORTS

The information gained from this report can be used in conjunction with other supplementary reports. The supplementary reports available are:

Feedback Report

This supplementary report is similar to the Standard Report though conceals raters' identities and can be shared directly with the individual being assessed.

Development Planning Report

Provides a general framework for development as well as development forms. Training and development experts can work with individuals to explore performance gaps and define development goals based on the results of the 360° appraisal.

Results Spread Sheet

Presents the group average scores for each of the questionnaire's items as well as the level of rater agreement. This information is provided in a supplementary spread sheet since it is not intended for general feedback.

DISCLAIMER

The Psytech 360° appraisal is an instrument designed to provide a focus about specific behavioural competency strengths and development needs. It should not be used as the sole source of information concerning personnel actions including promotion, salary review, or termination. The authors and distributors accept no responsibility for decisions made using this tool and cannot be held liable for the consequences of those decisions.

RATING SCALE

A 7-point rating scale was used in the 360 questionnaires. The below table lists the level descriptions and the numerical values associated to each. These numerical values form the basis for all further analysis and data representation.

Value	Level Description
7	Always
6	Almost Always
5	Often
4	Sometimes
3	Rarely
2	Almost Never
1	Never

COMPETENCY FRAMEWORK

Sam Sample was rated against the following competency framework.

Competency Framework
Category Name	Definition
Integrity	The tendency to be trustworthy, reliable and honest - someone who has a strong competency in this area can be relied upon to work independently, with only minimal supervision. They avoid taking inappropriate risks, are responsible and can be relied upon to act with due diligence.
Creativity	The capacity to think and act in a creative and innovative manner - someone who has a strong competence in this area is good at generating novel, innovative ideas. They are often described as having the ability to 'think outside of the box', in strategic ways. They often come up with original, creative solutions to problems.
Logical and Analytical	The capability to think in a logical and analytical manner - Someone who has a strong ability in this area is very rational. They base their decisions on a logical analysis of all the relevant information. They have a well-tuned critical faculty and an ability for understanding mathematical/numerical problems.
Interpersonal Skills	The capacity to build rapport with other people in a positive manner – Someone who has a strong competence in this area has a high level of interpersonal sensitivity and empathy. They are good at building and maintaining harmonious relationships, at resolving interpersonal conflicts and supporting colleagues.
Resilience	The tendency to remain objective and keep control of emotions in the face in criticism - Someone who has a strong competence in this area copes well with pressure and is generally calm and controlled. They have the ability to cope with emotionally charged situations and are unlikely to get flustered, or lose their temper, in such situations.
Persuasiveness	The capacity to convince others of an opinion both verbally and in writing - Someone who has a strong competence in this area is an effective speaker. They are often charismatic and have a strong social presence. They are good at breaking down communication barriers and bringing people round to their point of view. They communicate clearly and effectively, both face-to-face and in writing.
Planning and Organizing	The capacity to effectively organise own and others' work and to plan for all contingencies to ensure optimal outcome - Someone who has a strong competence in this area works within timeframes and delegates work appropriately. They plan workloads and break work down into realistic, achievable sub-goals.

Quality Orientation	The capacity to attend to detail, produce work that is accurate and of a high standard - Someone with this competency has high standards. They attend to detail and are systematic and orderly in their work. They see tasks through to the end and stay focused on one task at a time.
Energy and Drive	The capacity to maintain high levels of drive, energy and enthusiasm - Someone with this competency has high levels of energy and drive and does not tire easily. They are enthusiastic about their work, self-motivated and committed. They take the initiative and display passion and pride in their work.

UNDERSTANDING THE CHARTS AND TABLES

All the information and results presented in this report are presented in the form of charts or tables, which is why it is important to be able to read the charts and tables accurately and make use of the information contained within them.

Chart Elements

All the charts used in this report present the data on the 7-point rating scale. The following elements are used in the charts to represent the results:

Chart Element	Type	Description
	Shapes (other than circles)	Represent DATA POINTS for the scores of competency categories, competencies or rater groups depending on the type of chart used. A legend is provided next to the charts to indicate what each shape is associated to.
	Circles	Represent the AVERAGE scores for a group of data.
	Dashed bars or columns	Represent the RANGE between the minimum and maximum scores observed within a group of data. The range is used as an indication of the level of agreement within a group, where the narrower the range the more likely there is agreement.
	Shaded bars or columns	Represent the SPREAD or Standard Deviation (SD) for a group of data. The spread is represented as a range from -1 SD points to +1 SD points from the mean (average). The spread is used as an indication of the level of agreement within a group, where about 68% of the data will lie within the spread range (assuming a normal distribution). Similar to the range, we find that the narrower the spread the more likely there is agreement.

Determining Significance of the results

While the charts are a useful way for presenting information, they do not inform us of the significance of the results, which is why this report includes tables to summarise the chart information and highlight significant observations.

The tables provided along with the charts highlight the significance of the results in three categories:

- Results: Presents the average scores and highlights scores lower than the scale average.
- Consensus: Is used to investigate the level of agreement between raters within a group. This table presents the Standard Deviation results and highlights the results that indicate a low level of consensus within a group.
- Gap: Is also used to investigate the level of agreement, however in this instance it focuses on the level of agreement between different groups. Gap results are useful when it comes to investigating how different groups perceive Sam's performance. This table presents the score differences between different rater groups and highlights the results that indicate a wide gap between group perceptions.

Score Range	Result Level	SD Range	Consensus Level	Difference Range	Gap Level
5.8 - 7.00	High	0.00 - 1.19	High	0.00 - 0.59	Narrow
4.6 - 5.79	Moderately High	1.2 - 1.49	Moderately High	0.6 - 1.19	Moderately Narrow
3.4 - 4.59	Moderate	1.5 - 1.79	Moderate	1.2 - 1.79	Moderate
2.2 - 3.39	Moderately Low	1.8 - 2.39	Moderately Low	1.8 - 2.39	Moderately Wide
1.00 - 2.19	Low	2.4 - 6.00	Low	2.4 - 6.00	Wide

DEALING WITH RATING DISCREPANCIES

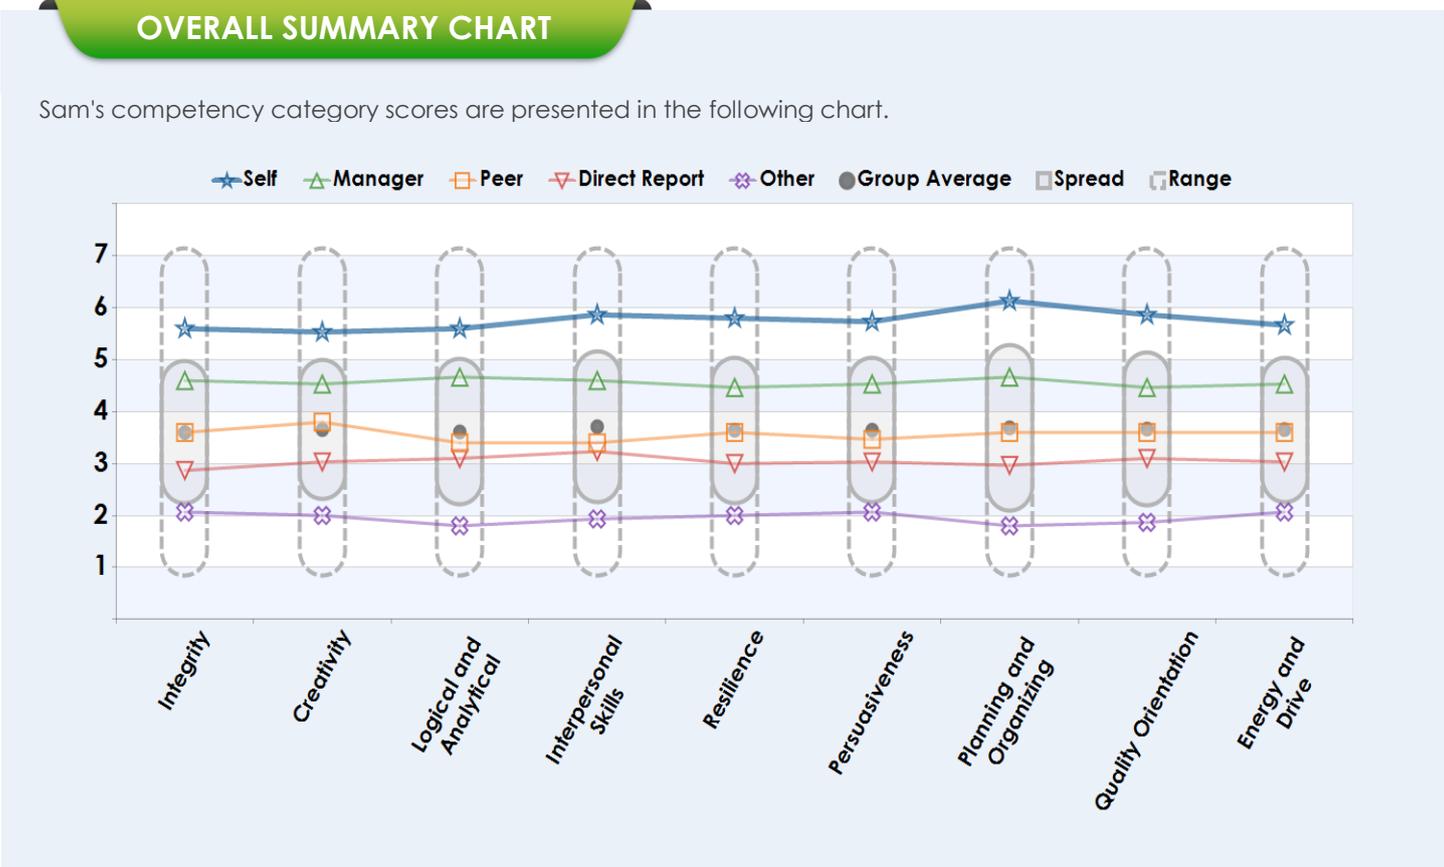

Rating discrepancies may result from one of the following causes:

Cause	Description	How To Resolve
Inconsistent Behaviour	Individuals may, intentionally or otherwise, vary their behaviour according to the group they are dealing with. This may take the form of focusing their efforts on pleasing one group over the other.	Ensure the individual being appraised understands the importance of serving all stakeholders appropriately.
Low Interaction	Raters are unfamiliar with the individuals being appraised or may not interact with them sufficiently to be able to accurately complete the questionnaire.	Work with the individuals being appraised to select more appropriate raters in the future.
Inappropriate Descriptions	The questionnaire items may not be sufficiently clear, which may cause raters to misinterpret them and inaccurately rate the individuals being appraised. These are usually characterised by a general lack of consensus among all rater groups.	Ensure the items are appropriate for the role and that they can be easily observed in a work related context.
Positive Self-Image	Some individuals may consistently rate themselves higher than others either due to having poor self-awareness or due to wishing to portray themselves in a positive light.	Help the individual realise the cause for the difference between how they perceive themselves and how others perceive them.
Humble or Negative Self-Image	Some individuals may rate themselves lower than others either due to their tendency to be humble or due to a lack of self-confidence or belief in their abilities.	Help the individual build their confidence by showing them how well others rate them.

Sam's overall results are summarised below.

The following table summarises the information presented in the category summary chart above. Categories with Score Levels or Consensus Levels marked as "Low" or "Moderately Low" should be investigated further in the category summary sections.
